Continuation Sheet (PTO-303) 09/770,196

Continuation of 5. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: The 103 rejection is maintained for reasons of record. The newly proposed claim does not overcome the rejection by including "consisting essentially of" since the inclusion of the phrase is inconsistent with the claim language. Additionally the art has not been overcome because the references in combination teach resin compositions having the components as claimed. Applicant's arguments are not convincing because ther eferences teach a propylene/ethylene copolymer, modified propylene and a styrene based component. These are essentially applicant's components.
